Is not possible when the blood is impure, and recovery from any ailment must be slow and uncertain while that condition continues. The Blood may be corrupted by the taint of Hereditary Scrofula, and the poisons of Mercurial and Contagious Diseases, and also by impurities implanted in it through excesses in living, improper food, derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, and other causes. The first external evidences of such vitiation are Clackheads. Pimules, Sties. Eruptions. first external evidences of such vination are Blackheads. Pinmples, Sties, Eruptions, and Boils. Yet more serious are the symptoms showing its internal effects in depression of the Spirits, Lassitude, Weariness without effort, Headaches, Dizziness, and enfeebled circulation. Be warned in time!

Ayer's Sarsaparilla Is the only medicine that will thoroughly purify the blood. In millions of cases, during nearly forty years in which it has been the best hope of humanity suffering from vitiation of the life-current, it has effected cures beyond the power of any other remedy. Leading physicians know its composition from the most powerful alteratives, directics, and tonics, and preserve it in their practice.

Our Water Supplies—Destruction of California's Forests.

> New York, August 18th .- The Sun de etes its first column to an editorial on the uture of California, in which it says the iscussions upon certain questions of riparian rights which have lately occupied the press and people of California, and so stirred the inhabitants of the Pacific slope, have not yet reached the point of real inerest in any serious treatment of the river problems of western America. Whether the water which flows through California rivers shall be appropriated by the mining interest, or shall be used to develop the agricultural resources of the State is of little moment to Californians themselves or to the world at large, in comparison with the slowly destroying the capacity of the rivers to furnish any water at all during the months when the use of water is really essential. The topography of no other part of the world is so adapted to develop dan-selves. California, without a permanent summer supply of water, a supply unre-plenished by summer rains, will perish with its forests. The fact is as immutable as the laws of nature. Mining Case Decided. WASHINGTON, August 18th .- The Assist-mining case of general interest. Samuel ining claim at Leadville, Colorado. The tition sets forth that Carleton had been denied the right to appeal; that a patent for the claim was issued to the Wolcott Mining Company, which patent has not yet been delivered, and asking that it be withheld until the protestant's rights in the premises are fully determined. Assistant Secretary Mulbrow rules against the pro-test. He says that a protestant is not entitled to the right of appeal is a well settled doctrine. It is urged that because the pro-testant in this case claims the right of betwo hours later. ng a co-owner in said mine, he is entitled be heard, through not alleging the status of the adverse claimant. In the Gram ian lode case it was expressly ruled that a co-owner must protect his rights under a form of procedure provided for an adverse claimant, and though the right of appeal was not considered in said case, such question is disposed of in other cases cited. The

He is preparing an assault upon the present Administration in egard to the conduct of the Department of state. Within the last few days he has sent documents and copies of official communi-cations to Congress from the President and the Departments. This indicates that he is preparing for an aggressive campaign. He has goo a complete list of the pension vetoes, the appropriations Acts, including the River and Harbor Act, documents relating to the tariff, the coinage of silver, the conduct of the Treasury Positivent in the conduct of the Treasury Department in regard to reducing the surplus, and other not agreed. His largest demands have been for documents relating to the State Department. He obtained the correspondence concerning the fisheries troubles with Canada, and the imprisonment of editor Cutting in Mexico, and copies of new

The announcement caused great surprise, as Payson had been considered one of the wealthiest men here. His financial difficulty, it is stated, has been caused by the indorsement of the A gold mine at Grass Valley, Cal., has been caused by the indorsement of the Indian Orchard Mills, which are virtually owned by himself. Tremendous cheering greeted the arrival of Michael Davitt and Mrs. Parnell. President Patrick Egan, in opening the Convention, said it would be inspired by the presence and aided by the counsel of a man who above all others, not excepting our great leader himself, holds the warmest place in the hearts of all Irish eviles, honest and fearless Michael Day. the warmest place in the hearts of all rish exiles—honest and fearless Michael Davitt." He concratulated the Convention on the fact that since the Beston Convention the infamous Crimes Act had been abolished. He said three successive Governments have been overthrown in England within nine ponths on the Irish question. within nine months on the Irish question, and coercion, as a system, he believed, was dead. England's influence among nations would be lost until peace reigned in Ireand, and there could be no peace with the frish race until it had obtained home rule. Great promise toward that end was due largely to the agency of the Irish National League of America, which, since the Boston Convention, had forwarded to the Truses of the Parliamentary Fund $320,000 He said the Convention should preserve caution; that no word or act should compromise those beyond the water; that it should be caution without cowardice, and a termination such as was shown by Amer-an liberty to win back plundered rights at zards. On reassembling of the Senate, Days resumed his argument and held the floor until 2:30.

Parkinson spoke in favor of the motion to reconsider. He discussed the irrigation question upon its equities, expressly omitting reference to the legal points involved, except in so far as to say that he favored the repeal of Section 1422 of the Civil Code, which recognizes the English common law of riparian rights.

Chandler presented a memorial from Wheat-Chandler presented a memorial from Wheat-land Grange, protesting against any legislation in the interest of either appropriators or ripa-rianists, and expressing its views in a series of resolutions, in which a general system of State control of waters was indorsed. Hurlbut presented a memorial from the Greenback-Labor party of San Francisco, favor-ing the repeal of the English common law as applied to uphold riparian rights.

Reddy spoke in favor of reconsidering the rote by which his amendment of last week was lefeated. Referring to the argument made by Days in favor of State control of the public waters, he desired to know how the friends of that proposition expected to be able to secure State control without first supporting a bill to repeal the English common law of riparian rights. He contended that no State or other system could be inaugurated without first repealing that provision. It was the one great obstacle in the way of any equitable distribution of water. Personally, he would favor a system of State control, which both the riparian and appropriation doctrines oppose. But the first thing to do is to repeal the common-law doctrine before any change in the present system can be inaugurated. Riparianism means a cowboy's cabin standing here and there over a sterile and desolate country, often two days' the income the administration hopes for cause the campaign lifts local concern into State prominence, involving possibly the control of the government of the nation. The ticket is the choice of a representative body fresh from the people; it will be the local rallying post for Republicans this fall, and will be elected, we believe, without an exception.

It is no time whatever for carping or fault-finding, even if there were grounds for them—which, happily, there are not. The success of the local ticket may mean the success of the Republican State ticket. The public mind, we take it, is deeply impressed by the conviction that the administration of State affairs must not again be intrusted to the incompetency of the Democracy. A four years' term is enough of maladministration by a party divided and wrangling, and that has excited the derision of the people by its ill-tempered assaults upon material industries of the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the politic and money saving. A Wyoming Cattle Thief.

Sheriff C. W. Savage, of Custer county, Wyoming, arrived here yesterday to get Wm. E. Davis, who was arrested a few days ago at Merced by Constable Bevans, of Wheatland, and brought to the calaboose in this city to be kept until called for. It appears that last fall Davis and a confederate stole a number of cattle in Custer county and sold them. It is a peaceable and quiet is good. He is a peaceable and quiet citizen.

The next witness was Charles A. Jenkins, Proprietor of the State House, the hotel in front of which the shooting took place. He, too, had been acquainted with McWhorter ten or twelve years. uite an argument upon the law points

He was followed by Senator Cross, who spoke quite at length. He said there had been an earnest desire to elicit all the facts in the case without bringing in outside matters or exciting passion. He said one of the first laws of nature was self-protection. There is a disposition on the part of every living thing to protect itself. No law, no rules of society could deny a man the right to defend himself. In this case, he said the defendant was not only insti-

the right to defend himself. In this case, he said, the defendant was not only justified, but he was to be commended for having protected himself, from what at least seemed to be imminent bodily harm. He claimed that the prosecution had not put upon the stand a single eye-witness of the tragedy, whose testimony did not make a complete clear-cut case of self-defense. He then reviewed the murderous threats Robinson had made against McWhorter to several different persons, all to the effect that he intended to beat him, wipe up the ground with him and to stamp his — out. McWhorter did not desire to have his bones broken, his body used as a street mop, nor have his body used as a street mop, nor have his body used as a street mop, nor have his a complete clear-cut case of self-defense. to stamp his — out. McWhorter did not desire to have his bones broken, his body used as a street mop, nor have his entrails kicked out. The Senator said his relations with deceased were such that they did not entertain the kindliest feelings toward each other, but at the same time they were friendly. However, Robinson is now dead, and common decency demands that his name and acts be handled carefully. There is but one way for a small weak man to defend himself against a large and powerful enemy, and that is to arm himself; and the small man who does not do this is a coward. weather.

Chief Dillman yesterday directed the force to commence systematic operations against tramps, and gentry of that class infesting the city will be in luck if they do not find themselves swelling the lie. not find themselves swelling the list of prisoners in the County Jail, which list is now so small that the jailers are lonesome.

At this season of the year there is no excuse for being a tramp.

Theodore F. Tracy, brother of Felix Tracy, of this city, died suddenly at San Francisco yesterday morning. Deceased

Four Acres a Fortune. [S. F. Call.] In one of Joaquin Miller's letters to the munist, escaping with his life, found his and impartial reports of the proceedings. Way to camorina and in some way the way to camorina and the owner of four acres of sand, gravel and the wished to thank those journals and the owner of four acres of sand, gravel and tard seed, 70 cents; brandy and wine, 50 per cent. of standard rates; wool, in greater thank the control of the sacrachaparral in the upper part of the Sacramento valley. To-day that four acres is a big fortune. The French farmer has his ows, his horses and his pigs. The four acres are all he can cultivate, and they produce all he wants. The secret of this sucwith ball fixed at $10,000.

The bail was immediately given, with the following sureties: A. M. Clark, Presno, $5,000; John Yeargen, Fresno, 2,000; Charles A. Jenkins, Sacramento, 3,600; Jas. O'Brien, Smartsville $10,000. the country of tramps and Communists. But the writer goes on to preach a water-appropriation sermon in the French farmof land, gravel and chaparral. He wants the Sacramento river turned out of its bed above Redding and scattered in a thousand streams over the valley. This will make the portion of the valley which is now parched and yellow blossom like the spring. The imagination of the writer enables him to draw a pretty picture. He does not give himself much trouble about the other side of the question. The Sacramento has its uses ful homes along its banks. The capital city depends largely for its business on the river that flows past it. There are millions upo millions of dollars' worth of property tha would not be worth more than the French them if the Sacramento should be turne out of its bed at Redding. The law that would permit the diversion of the waters course, to the American river, and deprived of the two streams Sacramento city would be reduced to the rank and resources of an rdinary inland town. It seems to us that Mr. Miller might have made better use of the text the French farmer afforded him. The French farmer did not turn the Sacramento river at Redding or elsewhere. He did not take any water that any other person was using. He dug a well and put up a windmill. The water rose to the surface and made his four acres fertile. There is no reason to suppose that the French farmer took all the water there was in the stream under ground. If the stream under ground is the stream under ground is the stream under ground. stream under ground. He took what he needed and left the rest for some other man who has sense enough to dig for it. Would it not be better to test the magnitude of these underground streams before we au-thorize the desolation of cities and villages for the benefit of remote localities? Even the ost primitive code of morals teaches that it is better to create wealth for ourselves than to appropriate that which another has

No speeches were made, but a general hand-shaking was indulged in. General and Mrs. Logan especially were warmly received, and each was made the recipient of many hearty cheers. The citizens were treated to asensation at once novel and pathetic. In the excited crowd at the hotel was an old and respected resident of Ukish. He and Mrs. Logan were schoolmates in their younger days, and the thought of seeing his old friend once more nearly carried him away. He rushed up to the General excitedly, and without awaiting a formal introduction, astonished him with the query, "Where is Mary?" Before the General could recover from his surprise, his better half had recognized her old friend, and without ceremony embraced him while the good natured over the Assembly.
